Task Specification

The Modern Music Management Company offers online services for managing music ensembles. It oversees a range of music ensembles and details about musicians globally. The company plans to develop a Musical Ensemble Management System (MEMS) to maintain the musicians in ensembles for different kinds of musical groups. At present, the system accommodates orchestra and jazz band, with plans for expansion to include more ensemble varieties in future. Below is the simplified class diagram representing the current data structure in MEMS.

Be noted that Ensemble is an abstract class (so as its abstract functions: `updateMusicianRole()`, `showEnsemble()`), you may use Vector or LinkedList for AbstractList in Ensemble.

As a system analyst of the Company, you are required to design and develop MEMS. You are reminded not to change the design of the existing classes: Ensemble, OrchestraEnsemble, JazzBandEnsemble, and Musician.

MEMS should provide the following functions:

1. Create an Ensemble record.
2. Set the current ensemble by Ensemble ID.
3. Add a musician to the current ensemble
4. Modify the instrument of a musician of the current ensemble
5. Delete a musician from the current ensemble
6. Show the current ensemble
7. Display all ensembles
8. Change the name of the current ensemble
9. Undo last command
10. Redo the last undone command
11. Show undo/redo list
12. Exit System

Your system design should conform to the Open Closed Principle so that your design should easily be extended to support new music groups (for examples, rock band, reggae band, etc..).

You MUST apply the following design patterns for your new system

- Command pattern to provide the “create ensemble”, “set current ensemble”, “add musician”, “modify musician’s instrument”, “delete musician”, “show current ensemble”, “display all ensembles”, “change ensemble’s name”. “undo”, “redo” and “show undo/redo list” functions
- Factory pattern or Abstract Factory Pattern to create different kinds of Command objects and different kinds of Ensemble/Musician objects (e.g., JazzBandEnsemble object, OrchestraEnsemble object, Musician object, etc.)
- Memento pattern to provide “Undo” and “Redo” functions on the modify musician’s instrument” and “change ensemble’s name” functions.

Assignment Report

In addition to the system development, you are required to write up a Short Report covers the following sections:

1. Assumptions regarding the problem context
2. Application design with class diagram
3. Discussion and explanation on each of the design patterns applied to the application
4. Test Plan and Test Cases
5. Well documented Source Code

Mark Allocation

Your assignment work will be marked according to the following criteria.

Work	Mark Allocated
System Coding and Implementation
a) Implementation of the system and coding style (Hard-coded output will result in zero mark.)	30%
b) Correctness of system functions * (Hard-coded output will result in zero mark.)	15%
c) Test Plan and Test Cases (Will be used in testing your own application.)	10%
System Analysis and Design, and Discussion
d) Design of your system and correct use of design patterns	20%
e) Application design with class diagram	10%
f) Discussion and explanation on each of the design patterns applied to the application	15%
Total	100%

Note: * Please note that your source code will be recompiled and tested for the correctness of the system functions. You need to provide Windows batch file run.bat for compiling and running your system. For example, the run.bat file may contain the following commands for compiling Java source code and running your system:

javac *.java
```

```
java Main

Submission of Assignment Work

- The front page of your submission should include the programme title(code), module title(code), and student number and student name.
- Submit your Java source code and your report to <https://moodle.vtc.edu.hk> .
  - Well documented Source Code of your program and Windows batch file run.bat for compiling and running your system.
  - Report for analysis, design, discussion, user guide, test plan and test cases of your following work.
    - The assumption made during analysis and design of the application
    - System design on your application with class diagram
    - Discussion on the design patterns that applied on your program
    - Test Plan with Test Cases (Design your own test plan and corresponding test cases for each function. For each test case, you should provide a SCREEN CAPTURE for test result).
- Submit according to the guideline on the top part of cover page. Late submission will NOT be accepted.
